

KEPLEY

Kepley Wildlife Area is a 160 acre property that is located 5 1/2 miles south and 6 miles west of Ulysses. The property is in the shortgrass prairie of western Kansas and consists mainly of native grasses and forbs. The area was donated to the Kansas

Department of Wildlife, Parks and Tourism by Ray Kepley in 2009.

FACILITIES

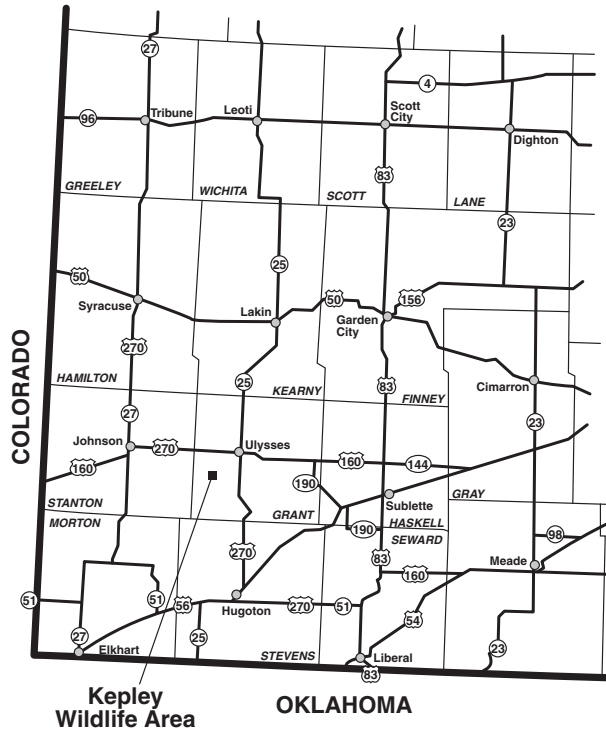

A gravel road skirts the west side of the property and a dirt road is on the south side. There is a small parking area in the south west corner and several small driveways along the south side. There are no restroom or camping facilities on the property.

HUNTING

The area is managed as a public hunting area. The main species hunted on the area are pheasants, bobwhite quail, mourning doves, and rabbits. However, white-tailed deer and mule deer can occasionally be found on the area. There is a small water well located on the north east part of the property. A water hole was developed to hold water year round, which will greatly increase the opportunity of encountering wildlife. Further attempts at diversifying the habitat on the area will be needed in the future, such as tree/shrub plantings and food plots.

SPECIAL REGULATIONS

Vehicles must stay on established roadways. Off-road driving is not allowed. A no trash policy is in place on this property. Please help us keep the area clean by taking your trash home. There is no camping allowed. Refer to the information sign at the parking lot for more information on current bag limits, hunting regulations, and public lands regulations.
